

Philip Wexler is a Technical Information Specialist at the National Library of Medicine's (NLM) Toxicology and Environmental Health Information Program. He is team leader for the development of the ToxLearn online multi-module tutorials, a joint activity with the U.S. Society of Toxicology (SOT). Mr. Wexler is also project officer for the LactMed file on drugs and lactation, and the IRIS and ITER risk assessment databases. He is federal liaison to the Toxicology Education Foundation (TEF), past Chair of SOT's World Wide Web Advisory Team, and past President of its Ethical, Legal, and Social Issues Specialty Section. Mr. Wexler led the World Library of Toxicology project prior to its migration to the INND/Toxipedia group, and remains a liaison to the project. He was a member of the Education and Communications Work Group of the CDC/ATSDR's National Conversation on Public Health and Chemical Exposure. A co-developer of the Toxicology History Room, he is co-founder and federal liaison to the Toxicology History Association.

Mr. Wexler has published numerous papers on toxicology information and has lectured and taught widely on the subject in the U.S. and abroad. He is Editor-in-Chief of the Encyclopedia of Toxicology, 2nd edition, 2005 (3rd edition under development), and Information Resources in Toxicology, 4th edition, 2009, both published by Elsevier Science, and the lead editor of Chemicals, Environment, Health: A Global Management Perspective (2011. CRC Press/Taylor and Francis). He is currently working on a major review article on toxicology informatics, for Critical Reviews in Toxicology. In 2010, he was named the recipient of the SOT's Public Communications Award.
